INVITATION FROM THE VICE-CHANCELLOR

I invite you, your friends and relatives to join us at the St Lucia campus on Sunday, April 18. The day will be a touchstone of the Centenary, when we celebrate 100 years of achievements by students, graduates and staff.

Geared to entertain and inform, the program is anchored to UQ's past, present and prospective contributions to scholarship, innovation, sport, culture and all aspects of society.

Everybody will be welcomed at the many free events available on the day – including visitors who have never been to a UQ campus. The program is designed for new-comers as well as the many thousands of people who are part of the University's lifeblood. UQ was established in 1909 as the "Peoples' University" and remains so today.

Professor Paul Greenfield AO

THANK YOU

UQ would like to thank all volunteers, supporters, and the team behind UQ's Centenary Celebration Day, including Event Manager Verity Woodford.

UQ – THE JOURNEY CONTINUES

In the 100 years since The University of Queensland was established, we are proud to have delivered teaching and research to not only the people of our state, but also to Australia and the world.

From developing a cancer vaccine and scramjet technology, to winning an Academy Award and penning several best-selling works of literature – this is just a tiny fraction of the success achieved by the many wonderful people who have worked and studied at UQ.

Join in the celebrations, and be part of our second century, as we continue to deliver learning and discovery that has the capacity to make a difference globally.

HISTORICAL HIGHLIGHTS

1909

The University of Queensland is established by an Act of State Parliament to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Queensland's separation from the colony of New South Wales. Government House in George Street is dedicated to University purposes.

1910

The University is founded officially when the Queensland Government Gazette publishes a notice listing the 20 members of the first UQ Senate.

1911

Eighty-three students, including 23 women, attend the first classes in the Faculties of Arts, Science and Engineering.

1926
Dr James O'Neil Mayne and his sister, Miss Mary Emelia Mayne, provide £55,000 to the Brisbane City Council to resume 210 acres of riverside land at St Lucia to provide a new site for the University.

1948
The move from George Street to St Lucia begins and is completed in 1972.

1990
The University of Queensland consolidates with Queensland Agricultural College (now UQ Gatton, a 1068ha campus 80km west of Brisbane).

1999
UQ Ipswich opens as one of Australia's first totally web-enabled campuses and about 500 students commence studies.

2010
UQ celebrates 100 years of learning, discovery and engagement with its Centenary Celebration Day, Oration Series, Alumni Reunion Weekend, and various other events and activities.

For more information or to tell us your UQ story visit www.uq.edu.au/centenary

WRITERS' HUB

Whether you are an aspiring writer, published author, or avid reader, this series of author presentations, in-conversation sessions, and panel discussions is bound to inspire.

The UQ Library is proud to present more than 20 authors in the Writers' Hub, from Nick Earls to Kate Morton, Rosamond Siemon and Kim Wilkins.

Visitors will also be treated to performances of Half-Hour Hamlet at 12.30 and Instant Romeo and Juliet from The Queensland Shakespeare Ensemble at 15.30.

For further details see page 7 or visit 'Writers' Hub' at www.uq.edu.au/centenary/celebration

UQ graduates and published authors Kim Wilkins and Kate Morton are taking part in the Writers' Hub.

THE FINALE: DUSK SPECTACLE

The Dusk Spectacle, produced by Brisbane-based j2 ideas & events, will be an unforgettable 45-minute performance of rich lighting, projection elements and powerful music, delivered against the sandstone backdrop of UQ's iconic Forgan Smith Building. The renowned 16-piece deep blue orchestra will deliver an orchestral mix of classical, pop and film music, combined with magnificent light and imagery.

Location: In front of the Forgan Smith Building, map reference H6, 17.45 – 18.30.

Deep blue's performances are dynamic, breaking the rules of the traditional orchestra.

INNOVATIONS IN HEALTH AND SCIENCE SEMINARS

UQ's Australian Institute for Bioengineering and Nanotechnology (AIBN) focuses on developing new products, processes and devices for improving human health and quality of life. In these seminars, AIBN researchers will reveal how the research projects they undertake could impact our lives. Tours of this world-class research institute will also be running from 10.00 – 16.00.

10.00 – 10.30: Introduction to the AIBN, Professor Peter Gray

10.30 – 11.00: Engineering an end to influenza, Professor Anton Middleberg

11.00 – 11.30: Life without needles: Nanopatches for improved vaccines, Professor Mark Kendall

11.30 – 12.00: The Meniscus (knee) project, Professor Justin Cooper-White

12.00 – 12.30: Personal regenerative medicine, Associate Professor Ernst Wolvetang

12.30 – 13.00: Biologic medicines: a panacea for the new millennium? Associate Professor Stephen Mahler

13.00 – 13.30: Nanomaterials in the service of human health, Professor Andrew Whittaker

13.30 – 14.00: Bizarro-Weightlifting on Planet Nano: How tiny dumbbells transform medical diagnostics, Dr Krassen Dimitrov

14.00 – 14.30: From the lab to the market: Innovation and commercialisation, Dr Craig Belcher

14.30 – 15.00: We can read the newspaper on the moon, Professor John Drennan

Professor Mark Kendall from the AIBN is working to engineer needle-free vaccinations

15.00 – 15.30: Soft, stretchy, strong and stable nanotechnology, Professor Darren Martin

15.30 – 16.00: Learning from nature: Ever wondered what nanotechnology has in common with butterfly wings? Associate Professor Michael Monteiro

16.00 – 17.00: Three minute thesis presentations from AIBN PhD students

Location: Australian Institute for Bioengineering and Nanotechnology (AIBN), Building 75, map reference H11

For further details visit 'Science, Innovation and Discovery Program' at www.uq.edu.au/centenary/celebration

ABC's Warren Boland will broadcast live from UQ's Centenary Celebration Day, from 10.00am to 12 noon.

In the case of wet weather on the day please visit www.uq.edu.au/centenary or listen to 612 ABC

ENTERTAINMENT & FOOD GALORE

Head to the Great Court to tempt your tastebuds, enjoy a cold drink, meander through the markets, or relax and enjoy live music from an array of talented UQ staff, students and alumni. This entertainment hub will feature a licensed bar from 12.00 to 17.00*, international food stalls, a coffee shop, a program packed with live music and roving performers, along with a variety of craft markets in Campbell Place.

* UQ promotes the responsible service of alcohol and encourages visitors to catch public transport or assign a designated driver.

POSITIVE AGEING SERIES

In a joint initiative between UQ Sport, the School of Psychology and the School of Human Movement Studies, the Positive Ageing Series will provide practical information and demonstrations for men and women over 55. This series covers a wide range of topics, from the therapeutic benefits of working with plants to clever gadgets that can improve everyday living and 'super foods' that can enhance health and wellbeing.

Location: Alumni Court, Building 16, map reference H9, 9.30 – 16.00.

For further details see page 6 or visit 'Health and Wellbeing' at www.uq.edu.au/centenary/celebration

GLOBAL CHANGE SERIES

Some of UQ's finest researchers will share their knowledge and expert opinions on local, national and international environmental issues impacting on our community.

9.00 – 15.00: CoralWatch display: Act now for the future of our reefs

9.30 – 10.00: Moreton Bay: Beautiful one day, rubbish bin the next, Dr Kathy Townsend, UQ Centre for Marine Studies

10.15 – 10.45: Biofuels, Professor Lars Nielsen, AIBN

Professor Ove Hoegh-Guldberg recording photosynthetic rates on the Great Barrier Reef

11.00 – 11.30: Reducing your plastic footprint, Professor Peter Halley, AIBN

11.45 – 12.15: Renewable energy: A UQ vision, Professor Max Lu, Foundation Director of the ARC Centre of Excellence for Functional Nanomaterials and UQ's Deputy-Vice-Chancellor (Research)

12.30 – 13.00: Health-e-Waterways: Global online report cards, Professor Jane Hunter, UQ's School of I.T. and Electrical Engineering

13.15 – 13.45pm: Green business makes good business, Professor Andrew Griffiths, UQ Business School

14.00 – 14.30: Meeting the challenges of our rapidly changing world, Professor Ove Hoegh-Guldberg, Director, Global Change Institute

Location: Abel Smith Lecture Theatre, Building 23, map reference J7

ENTERTAINMENT IN THE GREAT COURT

During Queensland's 150th birthday celebrations, the public voted the University's Great Court as a Queensland icon. See for yourself, as this architectural masterpiece hosts an eclectic mix of live music, international food stalls, a licensed bar, markets, roving performers and kids' activities.

PROGRAM

TIME	ARTIST	ARTIST
9.30 - 9.55 UQ STRING ORCHESTRA		The UQ String Orchestra has attracted some of the most promising young musicians. In 2010, the Orchestra will be under the direction of UQ Lecturer in Composition, Dr Robert Davidson. In celebration, UQ String Orchestra will perform Carl Philip Emmanuel Bach's 'Symphony in Eb for string orchestra' and Dr Robert Davidson's 'Elegy'.
10.10 - 10.30 SO-LA VOCE CHAMBER CHOIR		Formed in 2004 by UQ music students, the choir draws on polyphonic vocal works of the Western European Renaissance and Early Baroque period, along with 20th century and contemporary genres – delivering an enchanting experience for the listener.
11.00 - 11.45 UQ BIG BAND		From Sinatra to Michael Bublé, Robbie Williams, Brian Setzer and Phil Collins, the UQ BIG BAND is sure to add some pizzazz to the Centenary celebrations. Directed by the award-winning trumpet player Clint Allen, the band is due to release its second CD in 2010.
12.10 - 12.40 MARK CRYLE AND THE REDEEMERS		Recently described by Rhythms Magazine as "one of Australia's finest singer songwriters", Mark Cryle launched his career with the band Spot the Dog. He has since emerged as a force to be reckoned with, with his recent release 'House of Cards' voted Folk Alliance Australia's CD of the year in 2009.
13.00 - 13.40 PHILL MCKENNA AND THE WATER SIGNS		When you hear Phill McKenna's songs, you hear Australia – not only in the distinct sound of his voice, but in the openness of his arrangements and honesty of his writing. His songs are full of Australian imagery and stories and his approach to creativity goes to the very heart of his song writing.
14.00 - 14.30 JOHN MEYER		John Meyer is one of Australia's most intriguing and surprising artists. He combines pop, rock, folk and country flavours in unusual and delicious ways, leading to comparisons with artists like Neil Finn, Rufus Wainwright, Sufjan Stevens and Elvis Costello.
14.50 - 15.30 MONTPELIER		Brisbane based four-piece Montpelier create pop rock with purpose and clarity. Their unique sound is a combination of soaring harmonies and warm melodies, fresh electro-synth and sharp rhythms, and a captivating pop sensibility.
16.00 - 17.00	THE RIPTIDES	The Riptides began life in 1976 when five UQ Architecture students inspired by the new punk sounds of the time began to dabble in making music. The group released their first single 'Sunset Strip' in 1978 and the reaction was instant, with initial pressings of the single selling out quickly. Constant touring and a follow-up single 'Tomorrow's Tears' built on that success. Renowned for their live performances, the group became one of the most sought after live acts in the country. In 1988 the Riptides reformed briefly to release 'Resurface', which finally captured the magic of their live shows and became one of Rolling Stone Magazines' top 100 albums of all time.

GENERAL PROGRAM

Whether you want to get involved, be entertained, or simply explore the campus and public facilities, you are invited to join in the free celebrations. From environmental presentations to author panel discussions, dance demonstrations and art exhibitions, there's something for everyone at UQ's Centenary Celebration Day.

HEALTH & WELLBEING

Discover the keys to positive ageing, find out just how fit you really are, or simply explore the facilities at UQ that are available for you, your friends and family to use, all year round.
