

Table of contents

PREFACE	5
PROGRAMME OVERVIEW
1. Introduction	6
2. Objectives of the PAL Programme	6
3. Frequently Asked Questions	7
Who may run the programme?	7
Do all students need to do every activity from Session One?	7
How many students in a group?	7
How long does the programme take?	7
When do I move onto the next session?	7
Can the PAL be used with individuals?	7
4. Programme Map	8
5. Practical Considerations	9
The Facilitator's role	9
Setting up the space	9
Materials/equipment	9
Worksheets, flashcards and recording progress	10
6. Assessment Guidelines	12
Why assess?	12
Recommended components of assessment	12
7. Outcome Measures	14
8. Deciding How to Start Students	14
9. Online Training and Support	14
GROUP SESSIONS 1 – 19
INDIVIDUAL SESSIONS 1 – 19

Table of contents

RESOURCE MANUAL

PA, READING AND SPELLING INTERVENTION	1
History of PAL	2
Research Evidence for Language Components of PAL	3
Phonological awareness, phonics and decoding	3
Morphological awareness and working with multi-syllabic words	4
Basic Principles of Instruction	4
Determining whether students need more or less intervention	4
Why have group sessions?	4
Why have individual or paired sessions?	5
Presenting the group activities	5
The individual/paired sessions	6
Accommodating Fatigue	6
Delivering the PA, Reading and Spelling Intervention	7
1. Developing an awareness of key terms	7
2. Developing an awareness of sound production	8
3. Developing sound-letter automaticity	11
4. Sound Swaps: consonant and vowel patterns	14
5. Sound swaps of nonsense words	20
6. Spelling and reading	26
7. Multi-syllabic words	38
8. Introducing reading and spelling of connected text	41
References	42
SUPPORT FOR HANDWRITING AND RELATED CONCERNS	45
Research Evidence for Sensory-Motor Components of PAL	46
Sensory-motor difficulties experienced by school students	46
Features of students with sensory and/or motor difficulties	46
Key sensory systems that support students' participation in school	47
Impact of sensory processing difficulties on students in classrooms	48
Co-occurrence of phonological awareness and sensory-motor difficulties in middle and high school students.	48
Outcomes for students with co-occurring difficulties	49
Sensory-motor difficulties and handwriting	49
Handwriting difficulties	50
Handwriting intervention	51
Physical Fatigue	51
Assisting Students with Sensory or Motor Difficulties	52
Managing physical fatigue in students with sensory or motor difficulties	52
Notes on Classroom Furniture	53
Handwriting – A Troubleshooting Guide	54
Parent/Teacher Screening Questionnaire	64
Deskercise Workout	66
References	67