

SUPPORT

UQ understands the extra support needed by international students far from home, family and friends. A range of services provides you with support while you settle in and throughout your stay.

Getting Started and Orientation

A two-part Orientation is compulsory for new international students and takes place before classes begin.

Students attend a Getting Started session and an International Orientation Session within a few days of arrival. The Getting Started session includes information on starting a University study program, enrolling and obtaining student ID cards, and accessing community resources.

The International Orientation Session provides information on studying at UQ, special resources and facilities, and is a great way to find out how the University works.

In addition to the two-part compulsory Orientation is the main student Orientation, "O Week". It is an excellent opportunity to meet people and make friends soon after arrival in Brisbane.

Highlights include:

- > campus tours and training sessions teaching students how to find and use key campus facilities
- > academic sessions, with advice and information about specific programs and courses
- > entertainment activities such as Market Days, barbecues, bands, exhibitions, and sign-up stalls for UQ SPORT and clubs and societies, and > UQ Union bags filled with giveaways. UQ's Student Support Services also provides one-on-one Getting Started sessions and mini-Orientations for new research higher degree students to assist them with settling into study and life in Australia.

Details of Getting Started and International Orientation sessions are available at the websites listed below:

Diversity

Cultural and religious diversity is highly valued at UQ, which works to create a positive and respectful environment.

University policy condemns racism, prejudice or vilification on the bases of race, religion or ethnicity.

UQ's policies related to racism, discrimination, harassment and bullying, and the Student Grievance Procedures are available online via myAdvisor or on request from any Student Centre.

Personal safety

The University maintains high levels of personal safety for all students on campus.

UniSafe is a program promoting personal safety awareness. Initiatives include two free services operating after dark. These are the UniSafe Escort service (UQ St Lucia, UQ Ipswich, UQ Gatton), whereby students and staff can ask to be accompanied while walking to on-campus locations; and a Safety Bus service (UQ St Lucia) linking main buildings, colleges, carparks and public transport stops.

Campuses are well-lit, have security call-points in strategic locations, and are patrolled 24-hours-a-day. An emergency phone number is effective all hours for an immediate security response.

The University also holds a compulsory Safety and International Students session during Orientation each semester.

UniSafe
www.uq.edu.au/unisafe

UQ Union

All international students have access to all services provided by the UQ Union (UQU).

International students are also automatically members of UQ SPORT (see page 18). The UQ Union organises a variety of activities and events to help students enjoy campus life (see page 19).

It aims to provide representation on University and educational bodies, and social welfare, recreational and commercial services.

Students have an opportunity to join any of the Union-affiliated clubs and societies, or can even start their own clubs (see page 19).

Postgraduate Area

The Postgraduate Area of the UQ Union is directly concerned with the representation and support of postgraduate students. It covers coursework and research higher degree students. The Postgraduate Organiser provides advocacy and advice for postgraduate students, organises activities and helps students with problems they may face at University.

Support for students with disabilities

Student support services

The University provides an integrated, professional service in several key support areas.

A range of free and confidential facilities is available to UQ students at each campus. In addition to individual sessions, Student Support Services runs an extensive program of group seminars and workshops.

Student Support Services

International Student Advisors

International Student Advisors provide a range of services and assistance for international students from pre-arrival to departure, including spouse and family information. Staff can also advise on a wide range of University and community services (eg, health and childcare). Information about the cost of living in Australia and how to manage on limited incomes is also available.

Careers counselling

Careers counsellors prepare students for a successful transition from study to employment. Counsellors help students make informed decisions on careers and related program choices, consistent with their interests and abilities.

Student counselling

Student counsellors are available to assist students with a wide range of issues, including dealing with crises, relationship problems and adjusting to University life.

Disability support

The University is committed to accessibility in teaching, learning and the physical environment and a number of facilities and services are available. Students with a disability should contact a Disability Advisor the year before they intend to commence studies at UQ. This allows the nature of the disability and the proposed program to be considered, and gives time for materials and other requirements to be prepared.

Learning assistance

Learning advisors assist students to improve their learning skills and efficiency.

Consultations are available on a wide range of topics, including preparation for exams, structuring theses, tackling assignments, getting more out of lectures, and time management.

Academic and English language support

Each semester, all new international students are encouraged to attend the following free programs.

Academic Preparation Program (APP)

The APP runs for three days prior to Orientation (in each semester) and is designed to assist new international students who have not previously undertaken university study or whose language is not English. Students are offered core and optional sessions on topics including writing, studying, library skills, research matters, examinations, note-taking, time management, reading effectively, referencing correctly, science writing and problem solving. Online registration is available following confirmation of a student's University place.

ESP: ACS program and other English language support

The English for Specific Purposes: Academic Communication Skills (ESP: ACS) program is offered by UQ's Institute of Continuing & TESOL Education (ICTE-UQ) and is designed to assist new international students to further develop and practise their English language communication and academic skills over an intensive, three-week period. The program includes an orientation to Australia and allows students time to culturally adjust prior to the commencement of the semester. This program runs prior to the APP and Orientation in each semester and is available to students who have been accepted into a UQ degree program and who already meet the minimum English language requirements. A registration form is available online.

ICTE-UQ offers a range of other courses for students who need extra help with English. These include English for Academic Communication (EAC), which is available free of charge for two hours per week (see page 29 for more information about this and a range of other available courses).

RECREATION

Your UQ experience can be both socially and academically rewarding, with access to the latest sport and fitness facilities as well as opportunities to enjoy stimulating cultural activities.

Sport and fitness

UQ SPORT is responsible for the wide range of sporting and recreational activities and first-class sporting facilities at UQ.

All international students are automatically members of UQ SPORT. The organisation manages the extensive sporting facilities at St Lucia including the swimming pool, running track, gym, tennis courts and playing fields as well as facilities at Ipswich, Gatton and Herston. All facilities are open to students, staff and the general community.

At the start of each semester, UQ SPORT offers a range of short recreational courses in dance, holistic health, martial arts and sports-coaching. In addition, social sporting competitions, and sporting events on campus such as triathlons, fun runs and the prestigious Great Court Race are also offered.

Professional instructors also provide opportunities to experience adventure activities such as horse-riding, sea-kayaking, surfing and island discoveries.

Sporting facilities at UQ St Lucia include an international-standard athletics centre; 21 flood-lit tennis courts; an Olympic-standard swimming pool; beach volleyball court; three netball courts; martial-arts gym; and a new $20 million, multi-purpose indoor centre. The Sports and Fitness Centre houses a three-level gymnasium, cardio studio, group fitness classes, squash courts, martial arts gymnasium and indoor sports pavilion. Eight ovals cater for cricket, hockey, softball, ultimate disc and all football codes.

UQ Ipswich features a workout room with cardio equipment and free weights, a multi-purpose court, and large playing field. Facilities at UQ Gatton include a fully equipped weights gymnasium, indoor basketball court, squash courts, tennis courts, cricket oval, and rugby field. Food, shopping and commercial services

On all UQ campuses, students will find a range of venues in which to eat, drink, meet friends and shop.

Food

Because Queensland is a thriving multicultural community, there is a wide variety of food from most parts of the world. If students have special cultural or religious dietary requirements, International Student Advisors can help them locate familiar types of food, including kosher and organic produce. In the Getting Started session, Muslim students will receive an information booklet outlining the grocery stores, butchers and restaurants in Southeast Queensland selling halal food.

There are three refectories (cafeterias) at UQ St Lucia, providing a variety of menus to suit all tastes. UQ St Lucia students also have access to six cafés, a noodle and sushi bar, an ice-creamery, juice bar, pizza caffè, sweets shop and the Red Room bar and bistro. The wide variety of foods available consist of light snacks, Asian noodles, vegetarian dishes, pizza, kebabs, burgers, BBQs, sushi, sandwiches, cakes and hot lunches.

The Main Refectory at UQ St Lucia uses only halal meat. A student bar, refectory and café operate at UQ Ipswich, Club Med Café at Herston, and a dining hall and café are also available at UQ Gatton to provide students with a variety of foods and menus.

Bookshops

Many University schools issue lists of essential books and equipment. With care, students can minimise costs. For example, books suggested for reference only can be found in the University libraries.

Textbooks and other equipment such as laboratory coats can often be bought second-hand either through services organised by some residential colleges or through the Secondhand Bookshop at UQ St Lucia or the UQ Gatton bookshop.

The bookshops at UQ St Lucia, UQ Gatton and UQ Ipswich stock new textbooks, stationery and other materials.

Accommodation options

UQ St Lucia

Students attending UQ St Lucia can choose from on-campus residential colleges, off-campus student housing or rental houses and units.

On-campus residential colleges

More than 2350 students live on-campus in 10 residential colleges at UQ St Lucia. Colleges generally provide individual bedrooms (usually with shared bathrooms), meals, laundry facilities, and common social and recreation spaces. They may also offer academic tutorials, pastoral care and religious observance (in those founded by churches). A few provide self-catered accommodation, including Cromwell College (Campus Lodge), International House, and Women's College.

Students are part of a close-knit community and are encouraged to experience the range of cultural, social and sporting activities that are part of college life.

All colleges accept applications regardless of students' religious affiliations or views, although some give priority to students committed to the college ethos.

Most colleges charge fees annually or per semester and students are expected to stay for the full period. Fees usually cover only the 33–36 week academic teaching period. Many students prefer to return home during vacations. In some cases, it is possible to remain at college during vacations for a weekly fee.

Students can usually move into the college on arrival. In most cases, it is difficult to enter a college during the year, but some mid-year vacancies are available.

On-campus accommodation is in high demand. Students should apply directly to the appropriate college as soon as possible to avoid disappointment. Application forms are available directly from colleges or via the Accommodation Services website. Applicants are advised to consider a second option in the event college accommodation is not available.

For details, refer to the table on page 24.

"Living on campus at a residential college has been a rewarding personal experience. I've made life-long friends from all over the world. If college life isn't for you, then the University's Accommodation Services can help you find affordable off-campus student housing."

TOM LAWLER,
COMMERCE/ECONOMICS STUDENT

Off-campus student housing

Independent providers (not part of UQ) offer a variety of housing custom-built for students. Some follow a residential, college-style arrangement, while self-catering houses and unit complexes are also available. Applications for this style of housing should be submitted online directly to the provider. Contact Accommodation Services for advice.

Off-campus rental housing

Share houses and apartments are the most common form of student housing, allowing students to save on costs and develop friendships. Houses are generally shared by three or more students, with weekly rent ranging from about AUD$80 to AUD$130 per person. Apartments are usually smaller and are shared by two people. Weekly rent ranges from about AUD$100 to AUD$150 per person.

An online database of share and vacant rental accommodation available to UQ students is located at <http://accommodation.uq.edu.au/offcampus/accommodation>. However, it is strongly advised that rental housing only be arranged once students have arrived in Brisbane. Most students interested in rental accommodation will book airport reception and temporary accommodation (see opposite page), then look for long-term rental housing during their first few days in Brisbane.

Please note:

- > houses and units (also called flats or apartments) are usually rented (leased) for six to 12-month periods
- > initial costs can be high – payment of two weeks rent in advance, plus a bond equivalent to four weeks rent
- > security deposits for gas, electricity and phone connections may be required
- > houses are generally rented unfurnished
- > furnished or part-furnished apartments are available, but rent is higher, and
- > students must budget for food, household items and ongoing utility costs such as gas, electricity and telephone.

UQ Ipswich

Students studying at UQ Ipswich can live in student accommodation close to campus or rent houses or units in surrounding suburbs. On-campus residential college accommodation is not available.

Off-campus student housing

Two independent providers (not part of UQ) offer student accommodation adjacent to campus. One features a complex of five-bedroom, fully furnished, self-catering units where students rent a single bedroom and share facilities with four other flatmates. The other has single, study bedrooms with shared dining and recreational facilities. Students can choose from fully catered, partially catered or self catered options. Students should apply online in advance.

Off-campus rental housing

Please refer to the off-campus rental housing section for UQ St Lucia on opposite page 22.

UQ Gatton

Students at UQ Gatton can live on-campus, in off-campus student accommodation or in rental accommodation in townships nearby.

On-campus residential colleges

Three Halls of Residence accommodate up to 350 students at UQ Gatton and are

St John's College

Cromwell College

non-denominational. The Halls provide a caring environment with academic support plus cultural, social and sporting activities. Senior students and staff help with study, social and personal welfare matters. Students have an excellent chance of obtaining on-campus accommodation but need to contact Hall staff to confirm places before arrival. Accommodation is offered on an academic year basis (excluding vacation periods) with fees due in advance. All meals are included; or senior students can elect to stay in one of the self-catered blocks. Please contact the Halls of Residence to apply.

For details, refer to the table on page 24.

On-campus houses

Accommodation Services manages a number of houses located at UQ Gatton. Students may apply either for a room in a fully furnished share house (facilities to be shared with up to three other students), a furnished house or an unfurnished house, subject to availability. Students should apply in advance.

International House

Off-campus student housing

An independent provider (not part of UQ) offers fully catered student housing off-campus in the township of Forest Hill, about a 15-minute bicycle ride from UQ Gatton. Students can choose from single, double or twin-share study bedrooms, and other facilities are shared. Applications must be sent directly to the provider. Contact Accommodation Services for advice.
