

THE UNIVERSITY OF QUEENSLAND

Indonesian Alumni Award

The University of Queensland (UQ) invites alumni in Indonesia to apply for a limited number of 'UQ Indonesia Alumni Awards'. These awards are valued up to AUS $8000 and cover associated travel and living costs for Indonesian alumni currently employed or studying in a research higher degree program at UQ partner universities in Indonesia.

The award provides an opportunity for alumni to reconnect with The University of Queensland through meaningful collaborative research activity.

Further details and an Expression of Interest form are available from:

www.uq.edu.au/uqinternational/uqiaa

AUSTRALIA

Global Reputation

UQ continues to be ranked as one of the top 50 universities in the world by the UK's prestigious Times Higher Education Supplement-QS. It is also ranked among the top 20 universities in the Asia Pacific, and the top 150 worldwide, by the Academic Rankings of World Universities study conducted by Shanghai Jiao Tong University.

As a founding member of the Group of Eight and one of only three Australian members of Universitas 21, UQ prides itself on its longstanding reputation for quality and excellence and is at the forefront of tertiary education.

Research at UQ

UQ is one of the top three research universities in Australia. Its existing research strengths have evolved into eight internationally significant, interdisciplinary research institutes - many of which offer study opportunities for students.

By combining modern infrastructure with a culture that champions research excellence, UQ's institutes have attracted a community of more than 1,500 scientists, social scientists and engineers from Australia and around the world.

UQ is an ideal choice for your research base in Australia because:

- UQ has the second largest number of international PhD candidates of any university in Australia
- PhD and MPhil candidates have the opportunity to work with researchers of international renown
- The UQ Graduate School model for 'Harnessing Support for Research Students' Learning received an Australian teaching award for best practice
- UQ's industry links provide significant opportunities for collaboration and commercialisation for our research higher degree candidates.

UQ-Indonesia Relationship

The University of Queensland has enjoyed long-established links with Indonesian institutions, academics and students.

Grassroots academic collaboration with Indonesian partners has been at the forefront in building UQ's reputation and profile in Indonesia. Several of our partnerships are now underpinned by formal Memorandum of Understanding (MOUs) which extend to cover relationships in research, academic collaboration and program articulation.

UQ Indonesian Alumni

UQ's academic environment has been complimented with a significant Indonesian cohort for over 50 years. Many of these students were supported by Indonesian and Australian government funding. Our Indonesian alumni have attained leadership positions across Indonesian government, corporate and non-government organisations and include some of our University's most enthusiastic ambassadors.

Alumni Profile

"At UQ, I really enjoyed doing my food science research for many reasons: helpful staff, modern and advanced facilities, accessible research materials and learning resources, high safety standards, and vibrant research environment. These factors strongly supported me in acquiring both specialised knowledge and professional skills that I require."
