STUDY ABROAD

Academic opportunities in Arts, Education & Social Sciences

By studying courses in UQ’s Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences you will learn to think differently and use your understanding to shape the future you want for yourself and your world, whatever career you pursue. Take the opportunity to explore your ideas and find your passion and purpose.

With over 40 unique study areas to choose from, humanities and social sciences courses will provide you with a broad education encouraging intellectual curiosity. Our top quality courses equip you with the knowledge and skills to give you a competitive edge in the job market.

Contacts

Course Information: www.uq.edu.au/study
How to Apply: www.uq.edu.au/studyabroad
Email: studyabroad@uq.edu.au
Website: hass@uq.edu.au
UQ's Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences offers a diverse collection of world class courses delivered at the highest quality.

You can choose from more than 40 study areas - from the classics to the contemporary - including sociology, communication, history, music, anthropology and languages.

The courses listed below are some of our most popular courses for study abroad students, however a full list of available courses can be found on UQ's Courses and Programs website: uq.edu.au/study

- Communicating Between Cultures  COMU1002
- The Australian Experience  HIST1201
- Intro to International Relations  POLS1201
- Writing for International Students  WRIT1001
- Contemporary Australia  AUST1000
- Child and Adolescent Development  EDUC1702
- Introduction to Criminology  CRIM1000
- Indigenous Australian Issues  ABST1000

Regardless of what courses you choose, you will gain an international perspective on your field of study and broaden your skills and knowledge to better prepare you for your future studies back home.

Whilst you are here you will experience UQ's world-class sporting facilities, vibrant campus lifestyle, and wide range of social and cultural activities.

Ranked among the top 100 universities in the world, UQ values excellence and innovation in teaching and research, and staff from the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences have received numerous awards.

We also offer dynamic teaching and learning facilities to help you get the most from your University experience, including the largest purpose-built outdoor archaeology teaching facility in Australia, an in-house radio and television station, and three state-of-the-art museums.

With a student population of almost 47,000, one in every four at UQ is an international student. This multicultural population will enable you to gain exposure to a range of cultures and networks.