Attend this year's Alumni Practices Day to hear the latest best practice techniques in tackling social change.

Throughout the day you will participate in these sessions:

- Cutting edge research in policy development and practice
- Balancing life and practice
- Addressing Indigenous issues in practice

Issues discussed in these sessions will cover the daily challenges faced by social workers. Having the knowledge, skills and competencies to address these issues is crucial.

Keynote speaker, Dr Wendell Rosevear OAM will present on 'Helping the Unlovely - the role of acceptance, honesty, denial, power and value.'

Dr Rosevear has devoted his medical practice to working with people who are often on the edge of society and he is strongly committed to social justice. You won't leave his session without being professionally and personally challenged and inspired, with positive impact on your practice.

This is a must attend conference for anyone practising in the social work and welfare field. We look forward to seeing you there.
