Welcome to
Graduate School of Engineering Science
The Graduate School of Engineering Science, Osaka University, seeks to achieve a more prominent international reputation through their increased involvement in the exchange of students and researchers as well as joint research projects. Our program now offers interdisciplinary courses in which lectures, instruction, seminars and research-related supervision are given entirely in English. Eligible students can now sequentially attain both a Master’s and Doctoral degree from Osaka University, a leading Japanese University, while having minimal to no experience in the Japanese language. These highly qualified and globally recognized graduate students will not only participate in cutting edge research, but also gain a sophisticated understanding of advanced engineering science topics. Please join us in exploring science and technology in the 21st century, through the guiding principles of the Graduate School of Engineering Science.

1. Number to be Admitted
   Twenty for each school year
   Note: This application is different from the one with Monbukagakusho Scholarship. The applicant is not pre-guaranteed to be supported by any scholarships.

2. Qualifications of Applicants
   (1) Education:
      Master’s Course applicants must
      (i) have graduated from a university/college or be expected to graduate prior to the date of enrollment to the course,
      (ii) have completed 16 years of formal education or be expected to complete prior to the date of enrollment to the course, or
      (iii) be approved as an equivalent to university graduates by the Graduate School of Engineering Science, Osaka University.
      Doctoral Course applicants must
      (i) have completed a master’s course or be expected to complete prior to the date of enrollment to the course, or
      (ii) be approved as an equivalent to master’s graduates by the Graduate School of Engineering Science, Osaka University.
   (2) Language ability: must have good understanding of English.

3. Financial Support
   Students without any scholarship will receive financial support of about 20,000 JPY per month from the Graduate School under our specialized regulations.

4. Payment of Fees
   (1) Examination fee: 30,000 JPY
   (2) Admission fee: 282,000 JPY (fiscal year 2014)
   (3) Tuition fees: 535,800 JPY per year (fiscal year 2014)
   Note: If the fees are revised by the University, the students must pay the revised amount.

5. Screening
   The selection will be made based on the application documents and materials.

6. Date of Enrollment to the Course
   April 1 or October 1, 2015

7. Further Information
   Available at http://www.es.osaka-u.ac.jp/en/programs/admissions.html

Graduate School of Engineering Science Osaka University, Japan